

CASE STUDY

COMPANY OVERVIEW

This company is a leading organization with 25+ years of pasta production experience, focusing on sourcing durum directly from farmers, milling semolina, and creating premium quality pasta. Doherty Staffing Solutions' (Doherty) partnership was successful at their New Hope, MN manufacturing facility, which houses 200-500 employees.

HIRING CHALLENGES

This facility was struggling to find qualified talent they could retain. Their candidate retention issues led to the current employees having to participate in mandatory overtime. With this facility not being at maximum talent capacity, this led to slower or shut-down production lines. With all of these challenges working against this facility, they couldn't provide their products to stay on top of client demands.

KEY RESULTS

WORKFORCE SOLUTIONS

Doherty partnered with this facility using a direct hire employment model, allowing recruiters to utilize their brand and full compensation package to deliver quality talent quickly. Our recruiters' actions were so effective that the facility's internal hiring team paused their employment efforts several times due to an abundance of talent. Halting the recruitment efforts was an excellent problem to have, as this allowed the facility's internal hiring team the time to onboard and train all new employees properly.

RESULTS

By depending on Doherty as this facility's employment partner, they enjoyed having qualified people in their open positions, which included extruders, material handlers, and machine operators. These essential roles demanded a speedy response, which was realized within four months of starting their collaboration with Doherty. Our recruiting support allowed this facility to regain full production capacity and earned us access to additional employment areas within the company.
